'WILLIAM TELL,'
FILMED, COMES FROM GERMANY

But for the present strife in Europe it is probable that this country would have been flooded with foreign offerings. As matters now stand it is almost an impossibility to get through a film from Central Europe. But it can be done. The proof may be had at the Liberty theater tonight when the initial presentation of "William Tell" is made. This is the first work of the Deutsche Bioscope to come to Honolulu and the Deutsche Bioscope is the leading producing corporation of Germany.

"William Tell" was filmed shortly before the war broke out and was one of the last big offerings of this corporation for the reason that the actors have mostly left the studio and the click of the camera for the more strenuous field of battle and click of rifles.

Karl Kieniechner, known to fame as the German "Dustin Farnum," ap-

FINE BILL FOR REOPENING OF HAWAII

With a new concrete floor, new and latest approved screen, and redecorated throughout, the Hawaii theater will throw open its doors today and will present a most pretentious array of talent on its opening program. Wilton Lackaye, Clara Kimball Young, Charlie Chaplin, Chester Barnett, Paul McAllister—these are some of the names that the Hawaii will conjure with.

Particularly should the Hawaii play to splendid business with its opening program when it is known that the above mentioned, with the exception of Chaplin, will appear in a picturization of George Du Maurier's dramatic masterpiece, "Trilby." Miss Young will be seen in the title role. Wilton years in the title role of "William Tell," and it is probable that at the present time this actor is "somewhere along the battle front." To the Paramount Picture Corporation belongs the credit for having engineered the importation of this film.

"The Diamond From the Sky" enters the twentieth chapter with this evening's performance and the interest of Liberty fans is as keen as ever for the climaxes which come thick and fast.

Lackaye, who created the role of Svengali in the original stage production of the play, will be seen in the films in that same part. Chester Barnett appears as Little Billy and Paul McAllister as Ghecko.

The offering is the first to come from the studios of the Equitable Motion Picture Corporation, and the fact that this organization has secured such a pretentious offering for its film premier speaks well of its future work, especially when a casual glance is taken at the list of stars already under contract. Here they are: Gail Kane, Brandon Tynan, Marguerite Leslie, Carlyle Blackwell, Emmett Corrigan, Margarita Fischer, Teddy Sampson—she's a girl—William Courtney, Henry Holker, Frank Sheridan, Thomas A. Wise, Lily Cahill, Muriel Os- triche, Molly McIntyre, Alexandria Carlisle, Mary Boland, Clara Whipple, Gerda Holmes, William Sheer, Katherine Kaelred, Cyril Scott, Lenore Ulrich and Lillian Lorraine.

Guy Hamilton Clarke, Jr., machinist mate of the second class, aboard the E-2, died in the naval hospital from his injuries. This makes the total list of casualties as a result of the explosion five.

NOVELTY COMEDY OF ANIMAL LIFE

What is said to be one of the greatest novelties in motion pictures will be seen today at the Empire theater when a splendid type of wild animal comedy will be featured. Some realistic schemes have been incorporated in the play. There is an element of mystery running through the plot. Excellent photography has done much for the success of the production.

Van Dyke Brooke has achieved fresh laurels in the two-part dramatic offering "Elsa's Brother," in which Ellen Tourtelotte is starred as the heroine. Frank Munsey takes the part of the wronged man, who, dead to the world, returns to forgive one who had looked upon him as a murderer.

The life of the professional gambler has been drawn upon for the theme to bring out the fine points in the big dramatic success "Sue." It is a story of the wild and woolly days in a western mining camp when a steady stream of dollars rolled down the main thoroughfares.

Ivan Christie, Violet Reid and Charles H. Maille have leading roles in the drama, "The Buckskin Shirt."

BEGIN TONIGHT

Complete change of program will be made at the Bijou theater tonight, each of the three big specialties now showing there putting on new offerings. Allen Doone and Edna Keeley will be seen in a new and pretty Irish comedy-drama entitled "Father O'Flynn's Birthday." This one-act playlet is considered by Australian critics one of Mr. Doone's best. Edward Delaney, an Irish actor and a member of the Allen Doone Company, of Australia, who is also bound for a visit to the mainland, will play the part of "Father O'Flynn." During the course of this pretty and romantic playlet, Allen Doone will sing "Norah McNamara," "My Ould Dudheen" and "The Old Fashioned Mother."

Dorothy Harris, "The Ragtime Queen," will be heard tonight in new song specialties. The Raymond Teal Musical Comedy Company will present for the first time in Honolulu a musical farce-comedy entitled "The King of Patagonia."

Allen Doone will close his engagement at the Bijou theater Saturday night.

TOSSES SUGAR
FROM HIS TOE
INTO TEACUP

If encores mean anything, Nolan, the juggler and Tozart the artist, actor certainly made good with the crowd at the National theater yesterday evening. Paul Nolan is truly a wizard. One of his feats is to toss an ordinary saucer from the toe of his boot to a safe resting place right side up on his forehead; with another flip of the toe he tosses a teacup neatly upright on the saucer. In similar manner he places a lump of sugar and finally a teaspoon in the cup. It is one of many tricks requiring lightning speed, dexterity and a fine degree of accuracy. With it all he carries an excellent fund of humor.

Tozart's rapid work with brushes and oil won appreciation. His best and final picture, "Solitude," when given added strength by colored spotlight, was a scene of realistic, frigid white beauty. For encore he turned sideways his painting of a young woman.
